Thanksgiving became a national holiday in 1863 when President Abraham Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday of November as a national day of thanksgiving.
In 1939, President Franklin D. Roosevelt declared that Thanksgiving would be celebrated on the fourth Thursday of the month of November (never on the occasional fifth Thursday) to give time for earlier holiday shopping. All states did not adopt the date change and family members who lived in different states could not celebrate the holiday together. Attached is a letter to President Roosevelt from Eleanor Lucy Blydenburgh, a student at Pratt Institute, explaining that her school in New York will be celebrating Thanksgiving on a different day than her family in Connecticut. Click on the page links to read Miss Blydenburgh’s letter. [page 1] and [page 2].

On December 26, 1941, Congress passed a law securing a unified Thanksgiving on the fourth Thursday of November.

Thanksgiving Statistics

The U.S. Government produces factual and statistical information covering a wide variety of topics. Statistics and facts from one or more agencies can be combined to create a new report or enhance an existing report. The following is a list of statistics gathered from the U.S. Census Bureau, the Department of Agriculture and several other U.S. Government agencies on the topic of Thanksgiving.

There are 116 million households across the nation — all potential gathering places for Thanksgiving celebrations.
Turkey

In 2006, the typical American consumed 13.3 pounds of turkey.

All turkeys produced in 2007 together weighed 7.9 billion pounds and were valued at $3.7 billion.

In 2007, the cost of a frozen whole turkey was $1.01 per pound.

The estimated number of turkeys raised in the United States for 2008 is 271 million.

States leading in turkey production include:
- Minnesota / 49 million
- North Carolina / 39 million
- Arkansas / 31 million
- Virginia / 21 million
- Missouri / 20 million
- Indiana / 15.9 million

The U.S. imported $9.2 million live turkeys from January through July 2008. 99.3 percent of the imports were from Canada.

There are three Places in the United States named Turkey:
- Turkey, Texas / 465 residents
- Turkey Creek, La. / 363 residents
- Turkey, N.C. / 270 residents
- There are also nine townships named Turkey – three are in Kansas.

Cranberries

Cranberries are one of only three commercially grown fruits native to North America. The other two are blueberries and concord grapes.

689 million pounds of cranberries are expected to be produced in 2008.

Wisconsin leads all states in the production of cranberries, with 385 million pounds, followed by Massachusetts with 190 million pounds.
The United States imported $2.1 million of cranberries from Canada during the first half of the year.

Thanksgiving at the White House, 2007

- Last year marked the 60th anniversary of the National Thanksgiving Turkey presentation at the White House.
- The first National Thanksgiving Turkey was presented to President Harry Truman in 1947.
- Currently, the National Thanksgiving Turkey and its alternate are chosen from a selection of 15 finalists by the National Turkey Federation. An alternate is chosen in case the National Thanksgiving Turkey cannot fulfill the responsibilities of being the National Turkey.

- The 2007 National Thanksgiving Turkeys, May, and alternate turkey, Flower, were from Dubois, Indiana. They weighed about 45 pounds each and were raised with increased interaction with people so that they would be prepared for their role at the White House Ceremony. As is the tradition, the 2007 turkeys were granted a "pardon." They were then flown first class to Disney World in Orlando, FL to be the grand marshal of “Disney’s Thanksgiving Day Parade.” After the parade, guests visited the birds in the backyard of Mickey’s Country House in Magic Kingdom Park.
